

Brand Guidelines

Foundation document | Version 0.1 | 07 August 2026

Brand core

Name: Sudarshan Task Force. Short form: STF. Suggested descriptor: Workforce, Tasks, Attendance, Payroll. Brand idea: clear direction and disciplined follow-through.

Personality

Practical, calm, accountable, modern, and supportive. STF speaks to business owners and workers with equal respect. Avoid military aggression, surveillance language, and empty enterprise jargon.

Voice

Use short active sentences: "Check in", "Task due today", "Leave approved", "Review payroll". Explain consequences before an action: "This will mark a late arrival of 18 minutes." Errors must say what happened and what the user can do next.

Visual direction

Use a clean, high-contrast mobile interface with generous spacing and large touch targets. The visual system should communicate trust and operational clarity. Start with a deep navy or indigo foundation, a confident warm accent, neutral surfaces, and accessible status colors. Final color tokens, typography, icon set, and logo are design-phase decisions and must be documented before code.

Logo brief

Create a compact symbol plus wordmark that works in an app icon, browser tab, login screen, payslip, and monochrome print. Explore an abstract circular direction/coordination motif; do not use weapons, literal surveillance pins, or copied religious/political imagery. Test at 16px, light/dark surfaces, and one color.

Photography and illustration

Prefer authentic Indian SME work contexts: counters, warehouses, dispatch, delivery, workshops, and field visits. Show people with dignity. Use illustration only to clarify empty, loading, and onboarding states.

Give this to Claude

Create three distinct STF brand directions using this brief. For each, show logo, app icon, token palette, typography, dashboard sample, mobile check-in sample, and landing-page hero. Keep all directions practical and accessible.
